

Director of Programs & Operations

Warehouse 21, Santa Fe's nationally acclaimed Teen Art Center, is seeking a committed, energetic and experienced leader who possesses a demonstrated record of achievement and success in non-profit arts or related fields for the position of Director of Programs & Operations.

Warehouse 21 was recently voted Santa Fe's "No.1 Non-Profit" and is readying itself for a period of tremendous growth and expansion of youth programs as it prepares to move into a new 16,000 square foot facility in the heart of the Santa Fe Railyard Arts & Culture District.

The Director of Programs & Operations will be responsible for daily business operations, management of artistic programs and implementation of Warehouse 21's strategic plan. The position requires strong organization and management skills, excellent written and oral communication abilities, and experience with youth and artistic programs in a collaborative and inclusive environment. The ideal candidate will also possess the capacity for advancement within the organization.
